Advantages in Merging ICAD and PSAD

1. Consolidates all commercially oriented functions in one area.
2. Gives more flexible utilization of the manpower of two impoverished TO's.
3. Provides more available manpower to cope with seasonal peaks in workload. For example, PSAD's tax returns in early calendar year. ICAD's increased proposals activity at close of fiscal year.
4. Permits greater survey potential in both industrial and proprietary areas. Less travel costs as one trip can cover two or more cases.
5. Broadens employees. ICAD employees learn tax requirements, voucher preparation, coding, the Agency's accounts system. PSAD learns cost, overhead audit techniques, contract types, ASPR's, etc.
6. Makes quarterly statement interpretation better because PSAD auditors learn more of commercial ways through exposure to contractor's accounting systems.
7. Permits alignment of TO in a manner to more nearly reflect responsibility to grade without requiring additional or higher graded slots.
8. Provides potential for reduction in grades if required--a. 13 to 12, b. 12 to 11, and c. 11 to 9.
9. Provides potential for reducing overall numbers of slots if required because of the capability of better utilization of available manpower.
10. Causes no logistical problem as there is space available in present
